10 Schools should exercise great care that students are not released to persons other than 11 parents unless parents have specifically authorized such release.

13 If a parent enrolls a child and notifies the school that said child is not to be released to 14 the other parent, the school is to require this request in writing and on the basis that the 15 other parent does not have custodial rights to the child. Requests of this nature will 16 require legal documentation providing custody rights. Although the school cannot be 17 certain which parent has custody until legal documentation is received, until proven
18 otherwise the school shall act as if the parent who enrolled the child has the custody
19 claimed. If the enrolling parent so requests, the student will not be released to the other
20 parent or other persons unless authorized by the superintendent or appropriate director.

21
22 Unless legal evidence to the contrary is provided, both parents have access to the 23 child's records regardless of custody status.
